

I am asking that my privacy continue to be maintained by leaving the WI No Call laws as they are. To allow a company or/and their affiliates to call me for up to 18 months after I do business with them should be my choice. If they would like to keep that contact, they should ask my permission and specify the length of time when I am doing business with them. If I like the way a company does business, I will continue to do business with them, without harassment. When I'm not seeking out their product, I have no need to hear from them.

I do not choose the companies I do business with by phone contact, unless initiated by me!

I have been very happy with the great reduction in telemarketing calls I receive since the beginning of the No Call laws. Please continue to keep my "family time" and privacy sacred.

Julie, Watertown, WI